

KHON – UH unveils nursing school housing perfect patients

HONOLULU – The University of Hawaii School of Nursing unveiled a state of the art facility, considered one of the best in the country. It's essentially a hospital filled with patients that can overcome any medical mistakes.

The hallway resembles one you'd find in a modern hospital. Hospital beds fill the rooms with mannequins that can be programmed to portray all types of ailments. It's an $8 million facility that has an emergency room, operating room, as well as labor and delivery units.
